

TEEN REVIEWERS AND CRITICS

EXPERIENCE THE ARTS IN NYC LIKE NEVER BEFORE!

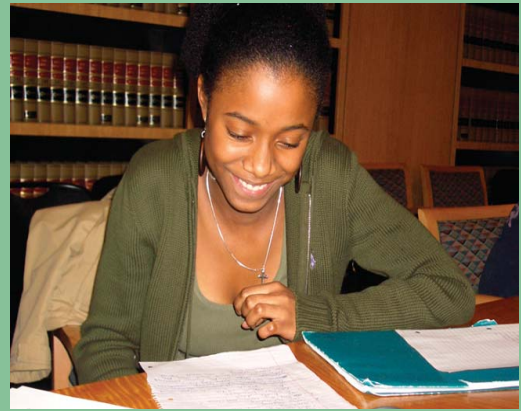

What is TRaC?

The Teen Reviewers and Critics (TRaC) program is your golden ticket to the NYC arts world. Far more than just an introduction, TRaC is a unique, FREE opportunity for committed high school sophomores, juniors and seniors to spend 10 weeks going deep into NYC's live music, theater, dance and visual arts scenes.

Why join TRaC?

You'll come together with people from different backgrounds and schools who want to explore the arts and sharpen their critical eye. Imagine yourself and these 12 peers attending world-class performances and cutting-edge exhibitions, meeting professional artists and critics, and breaking it down in weekly two-hour workshops. All while improving your writing. In addition, you'll:

- Attend at least 5 performances and/or exhibitions
- Experience the NYC arts world with behind-the-scenes access
- Learn from high-profile professional artists and critics
- Expand your critical writing and dialogue skills
- Publish reviews read by thousands
- Meet like-minded peers from all over New York & New Jersey
- Master New York City's public transportation system
- Discover more about yourself!

How to apply....

Simply go to www.high5tix.org/TRaC and download an application. The application deadline is Thursday, MARCH 4.

This spring, choose from five TRaC offerings: Dance TRaC, Visual Arts TRaC, Theater TRaC, Music TRaC and Multi-Disciplinary TRaC. Visit the TRaC website for more information and program dates.

Join us for the Open House!

Want to learn more? Join us for the Spring TRaC Open House. Meet former TRaC participants and instructors, ask about their experiences, get a preview of the spring program, enjoy some refreshments and, just for coming, receive TWO FREE H5 TIX!
